I design brands that people notice and trust.

I'm Kwabena Acheampong, a graphic designer from Ghana. For more than four years I have designed logos, packaging, adverts and event campaigns for small businesses, community groups and private clients.

Most of my clients are local businesses that need their brand to work hard from day one. So I care about clarity: the right message, in the right order, in colours people remember.

GRADUATION PORTRAIT

Design with a job to do.

I like work that has to perform. A flyer has to get someone to call. A label has to explain a product in two seconds on a crowded shelf. A logo has to survive being printed small on a pen and large on a banner. That practical side is what I enjoy most.

My training covered the whole chain, from drawing and lettering to photography, printing and packaging. I think about how a design will be produced as much as how it looks on a screen.

WHAT CLIENTS GET

A clear brand idea before any decoration.

Files that print correctly the first time.

Versions for social media, print and signage.

Honest advice on what will work for the budget.

QUICK FACTS

Discipline	Graphic design, advertising and packaging
Education	B.Tech and HND, Takoradi Technical University
Experience	4+ years of client work
Based in	Ghana

> "Good design should communicate clearly, connect with people and give ideas a recognizable visual presence."

MISSION

To give growing businesses and community groups clear, confident brands they can afford, and to share practical design skills with young people who would not otherwise get the chance.

VISION

A design practice rooted in Ghana and working internationally, known for brands that are easy to read, easy to trust and hard to forget.

VALUES

01

Clarity first

If the message is unclear, no amount of decoration will save it. I work out what must be read first, then design around it.

02

Made to be produced

A design is only finished when it prints well, fits the pack and reads on a phone. I prepare files for the real world.

03

Fair to growing businesses

Many of my clients are building something new. I look for the option that gives them the most impact for what they can spend.

04

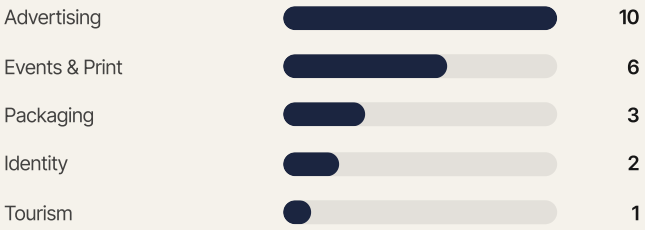

Share what I know

Free design training for young people is part of how I work, not an extra. Skills grow when they are passed on.

The work, counted.

SEEN IN

From the first idea to the final visual.

01

Discover

I start with questions. Who is this for, where will they see it, and what should they do next? A street flyer and a shelf label need very different answers.

02

Define

I write down the one message the design has to carry. Then I choose the type, colour and visual idea that fit it.

03

Design

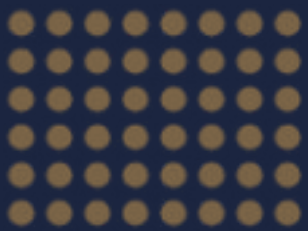

I sketch a few rough directions, then refine one. I test it at real size: on a phone screen, on an A4 print or on the side of a pack.

04

Deliver

Print-ready files with the right bleed and colour settings, plus versions for social media and signage.

Every brief starts with one question: what should someone do after they see this?

Client work.

9 commissions for real businesses and families: identities, packaging, adverts, event posters and stationery.

Chris Gold Buying Agent

Chris Gold Buying Agent needed a brand that signals value, trust and precision. The identity is built around a single ownable symbol: a segmented gold ring that forms the 'C' of Chris and frames a star and gold-ingot glyph. The rest of the name follows in heavy geometric capitals, and the system is shown on real touchpoints: lanyard and ID, pen, banner and apparel.

> Create a premium, trustworthy identity for a gold trading business that works on everything from a pen barrel to a roadside banner.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 Merged the initial letter, a coin edge and a sunburst into one segmented ring so the mark is memorable and instantly connected to gold.

02 Centred a star and faceted ingots inside the ring to make the subject of the business explicit.

03 Paired heavy, geometric capitals for the name with a condensed descriptor to balance presence with clarity.

Logo & lock-up · Stand-alone brand mark · Brand applications (ID, pen, banner, apparel)

One mark, everywhere.

I tested the Chris Gold identity on the things the business really uses: staff ID, a pen, an outdoor banner and a T-shirt. The ring mark also works alone, cropped large as a graphic on the shirt hem.

Clichy Gold Agent

Clichy Gold Agent's brand rests on the line 'Where Precision Meets Luxury'. The advertisement translates that promise into visual evidence: a balance scale, a minted gold bar embossed with the logo and a trust badge, while four icon-led value pillars state the offer. The business card carries the same emblem into print, with a hexagon badge on the front and the logo and tagline on a textured black back.

> Communicate trust, fair pricing and accuracy for a gold buying business, consistently across digital and print.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 Built the advertisement on symbols of precision, the scale and the embossed bar, so the claim is shown rather than stated.

02 Boxed 'Trusted & Transparent' as a seal and gave each value pillar an icon for fast reading.

03 Closed with a solid gold contact band so phone numbers and location are unmissable.

The brand, in your hand.

The Clichy business card carries the same crescent and gold bars into print. The front pairs a hexagon badge with contact details on black. The back keeps only the logo and the line "Where Precision Meets Luxury".

The manager's name, phone numbers, email and QR code are blurred for privacy.

Colour

Black and warm metallic gold, with a gold gradient footer for contact information.

Imagery

Photoreal gold bars, a world map and market lines suggest a global, live trade.

Print

Textured black card stock effect with the emblem foiled in gold.

Nhyira Flour

Nhyira Rice, Wheat & Soyabeans Flour

Nhyira produces rice, wheat and soyabean flour. The packaging gives the range a confident red-and-yellow identity: an oval Nhyira badge, a large 'FLOUR' product name and a photograph of flour and wheat, applied to both a canister and a pouch. The launch poster stages both packs in mid-air against warm yellow, framed by a red geometric pattern that gives the brand a distinctive, crafted character.

> Make a staple product stand out on the shelf and look premium, while staying clear about what is inside.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 Created a two-voice wordmark, solid capitals with a brushed script, for a brand that feels both reliable and energetic.

02 Structured the label as badge, product name and appetite image so the product reads in one glance.

03 Applied the label to two formats (canister and pouch) to prove a consistent packaging family.

Fans Liquid Soap

Fans Liquid Soap is a multi-purpose cleaner for plates, surfaces, clothes and toilets. The label design gives the bottle a playful bubbly wordmark, usage icons and contact details, and the poster places two labelled bottles against an energetic magenta foam scene. A clean white panel lists the uses, and a maroon band carries the contact line.

> Give a household product a fresh, memorable look and make its many uses immediately clear.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 Designed an outlined, rounded script wordmark that suggests bubbles and foam.

02 Used complementary contrast, cyan type on magenta, to make the name jump off the background.

03 Built a bottle label with icons that show use cases at a glance, and presented it on photoreal bottles.

Royal Chop Delicacies

Royal Chop Delicacies serves popular Ghanaian dishes with delivery. The menu flyer splits into a black information panel (wordmark, hook line, dishes, delivery and location) and a vivid orange panel of four plated meals. The social post shifts to a rich red with a single hero dish held out to the viewer and a clear 20%-off first-order offer, keeping the cream wordmark as the common thread.

> Drive orders by making the food look irresistible and the menu, offer and contact details effortless to find.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 Split the flyer into an information column and an appetite column, so reading and craving happen side by side.

02 Used a conversational headline and a ticked menu list for warmth and speed.

03 Turned the location into a perforated-ticket graphic and set the phone numbers large at the foot.

Same brand, new channel.

For social media I moved Royal Chop onto a deep red, put one dish in a hand reaching toward the viewer and made the offer impossible to miss: 20% off the first order. The cream wordmark keeps it connected to the flyer.

Colour

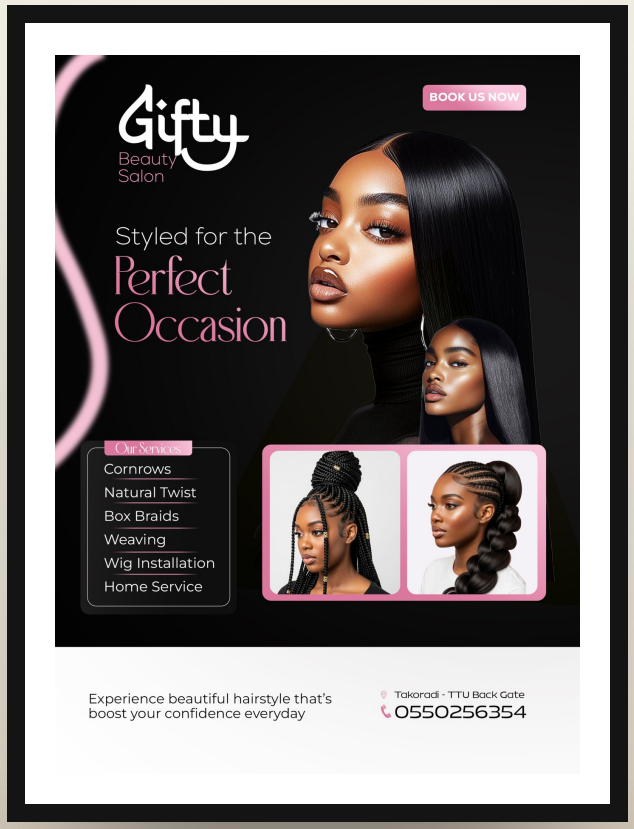

Black and cream for the brand, hot orange and deep red to stimulate appetite.

Typography

Condensed display capitals with a rounded geometric sans for friendliness.

Imagery

Top-down plated dishes and a hand-held bowl for an inviting, human feel.

Gifty Beauty Salon

Gifty Beauty Salon's flyer uses a dramatic black background, soft pink accents and large portraits to make the salon feel premium. A script logo and a light serif headline, 'Styled for the Perfect Occasion', set the tone, while a framed services list and two hairstyle photographs show exactly what clients can book. A 'Book us now' button and a clean footer with location and phone close the sale.

> Position the salon as the go-to choice for special-occasion styling and make booking effortless.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 Paired a personal script logo with an elegant thin-serif headline for a premium, feminine voice.

02 Used black as a luxurious stage so portraits and pink accents glow.

03 Balanced aspiration (portraits) with proof (braided styles) and a clear services menu.

Kelewele Fest '26

The Kelewele Hub

Kelewele Fest '26 is The Kelewele Hub's celebration, marking 20 years of mastery. The poster leads with an enormous stacked wordmark on a sunburst yellow, framed by a hand-drawn brown pattern and silhouettes of huts and palm trees. Beneath it, a dark programme block lists the activities (orphanage donations, medical screening, fire safety training, a vendors' vault and entertainment) beside the dates, with a 7PM tag and the Sefwi Bekwai venue.

> Build excitement for a community food festival and communicate a varied programme at a glance.

DESIGN APPROACH

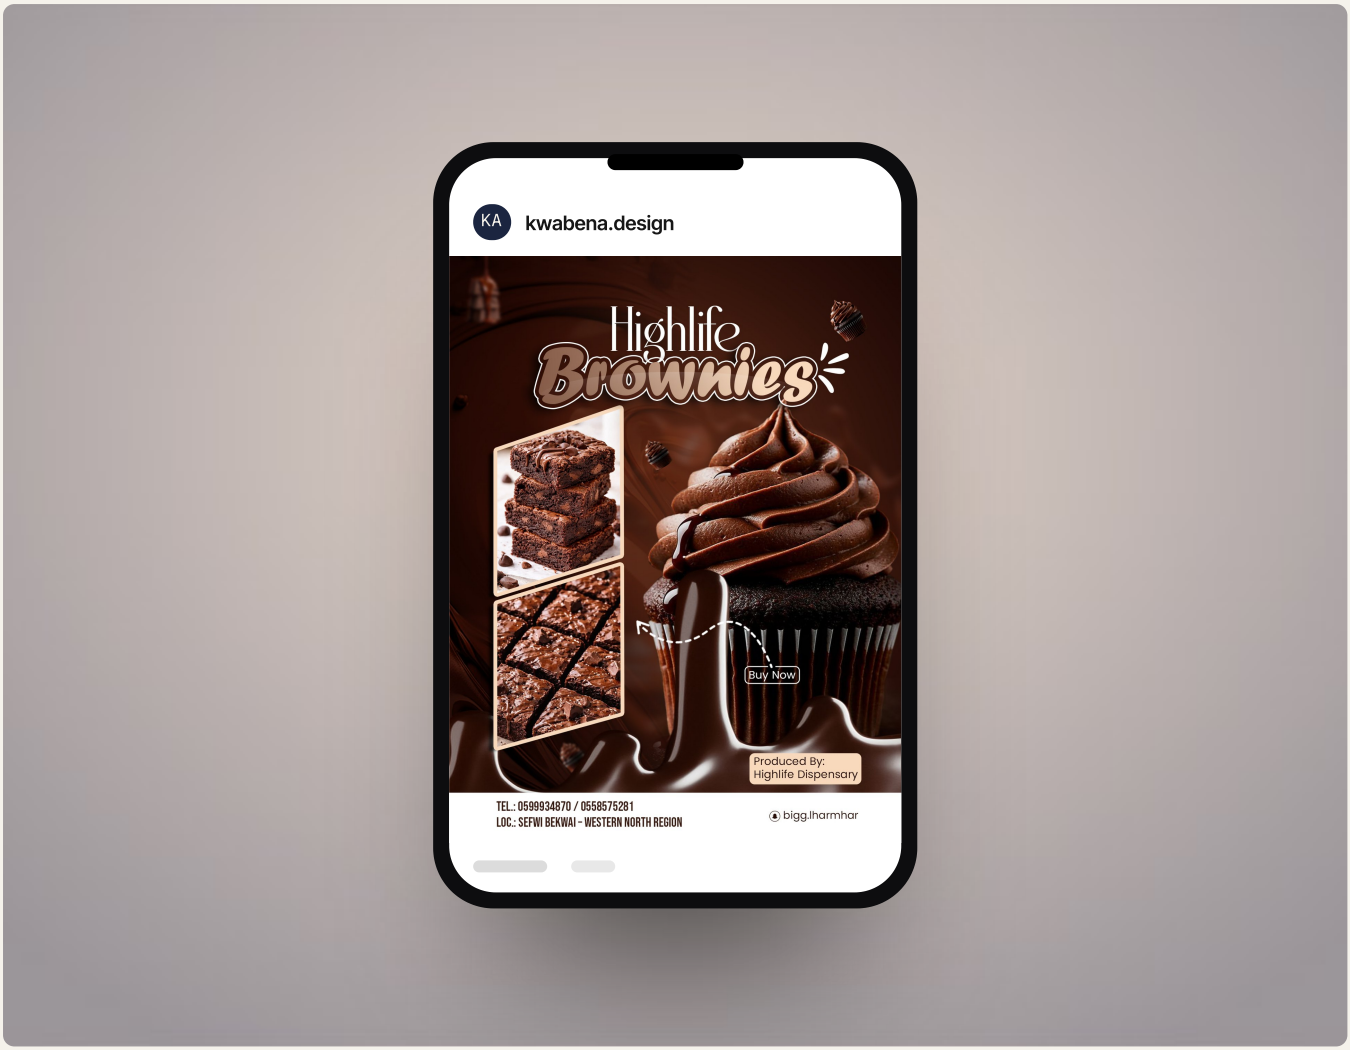

01 Made the wordmark the hero: chunky, hand-cut letters stacked on a 3D base for a celebratory, local feel.

02 Added the heritage line '20 years of mastery' to give the event meaning.

03 Organised activities into a ticked list next to a framed date for instant scanning.

Highlife Brownies

Highlife Brownies (Highlife Dispensary)

Highlife Brownies, produced by Highlife Dispensary, needed an ad that makes its baked goods irresistible. The design floods the frame with chocolate tones: a towering cupcake, flowing chocolate and two tilted photo panels of brownies. A contrasting wordmark tops the layout, and a playful dashed arrow leads to a 'Buy Now' button, with phone, social handle and Sefwi Bekwai location along the bottom.

> Make the product look indulgent and lead viewers to place an order.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 Paired a thin serif with a chunky glossy script so the name feels premium yet fun.

02 Used monochrome chocolate tones throughout for a rich, cohesive mood.

03 Combined a hero cupcake with framed close-ups to show both drama and texture.

Marriage & Naming Invitation

Private commission

This invitation for a combined marriage and naming ceremony uses a cream arched card within a gold floral border. A monogram crest and a high-contrast display face open the invitation, and the title pairs bold condensed letters with a tall, ultra-thin 'CEREMONY'. Script labels introduce three clear information blocks for date, time and venue. Names and RSVP details are blurred here to protect the families' privacy.

> Create a celebratory, elegant invitation that still makes every practical detail easy to find.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 Framed the card with gold roses and an arched border for warmth and formality.

02 Built the title on extreme contrast between bold condensed and ultra-thin display type.

03 Split date, time and venue into three distinct shapes with script labels.

Marks that stay.

Five logos for clients in gold trading, community work, food, celebration and music. Each is built around one symbol you can draw from memory.

Chris Gold Buying Agent

A segmented gold ring that is the 'C', a coin edge and a sunburst at once, framing a star and gold ingots.

Gather and Grow Assn.

An open 'G' wraps a circular seal. Inside, a tree of people with rising arrows shows a community growing together; 'Sharing Experience' completes the promise.

Afia Noodles Hub

A chef's hat, fork and steaming noodle bowl drawn as one continuous line icon, paired with an elegant serif 'Afia' and a geometric 'Noodles Hub'.

5th Anniversary Celebration

A bold green '5' within a laurel wreath, crowned with stars and swept by red, black and green ribbons. A commemorative mark finished with a celebratory script.

Dove Music

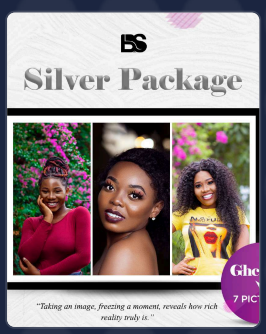

A golden dove holding a microphone rises from royal-blue flames. Peace, spirit and sound in one emblem, set in a curved badge.

Academic work.

7 projects from my B.Tech and HND courses at Takoradi Technical University.

Cherry's Sobolo

Cherry's Sobolo presents a locally loved hibiscus drink as a fresh, natural product. The layout reads like an advertisement and a product label at the same time. A bold wordmark announces the brand, structured ingredient and instruction panels give label-level information, and layered photographs show the drink being poured and served.

> Make a traditional drink feel fresh and trustworthy: show it is natural, explain what it contains and how to keep it, and give buyers a clear route to bulk orders.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 The wordmark leads the hierarchy. A friendly script 'cherry's' sits above a heavy, outlined 'SOBOLO' set in brand red, with a cherry motif that makes the name memorable.

02 Product information is split into scannable blocks (Ingredients, Instructions) using a condensed typeface, mirroring how information is organised on packaging.

03 Trust signals ('100% natural', 'No preservatives') are given their own shapes and colour so they register at a glance.

PROJECT 11 · ADVERTISING / PROMOTIONAL DESIGN

AJ Lingerie & Beads

A promotional flyer that turns a small product range into a confident, catalogue-like announcement.

01 The 'AJ' monogram is set large and heavy, with a curved string of beads running from the letters. The brand's product becomes part of its identity.

02 A sequence of circular image windows works like a catalogue strip, giving each product its own frame while keeping a consistent rhythm.

#FEAC01 #370502 #FEBD37 #915D42 #C1B092

PROJECT 12 · EDITORIAL / ADVERTISING DESIGN

Silver Package

A pricing advertisement for a photography package, presented with the restraint of an editorial spread.

01 A textured off-white background and generous margins give the layout a calm, gallery-like quality.

02 The headline is set in a high-contrast serif with a metallic gradient, so the tier name 'Silver' reads visually as well as verbally.

#11120F #802E56 #8C796B #D8CDB6 #F3F3F3

PROJECT 13 · EVENT CAMPAIGN / PROMOTIONAL GRAPHICS

Independence Weekend

A multi-night event campaign for a Takoradi venue, built around Ghana's Independence celebrations.

01 'INDEPENDENCE' is broken across two lines in tall, condensed capitals, and a yellow brush script adds 'Weekend'. Structure and celebration in one lockup.

02 The dates are pulled into a gradient pill directly under the title, so 'when' is answered immediately.

#4E0F03 #7C1F07 #D2623E #D5CA89 #FFFFF8

PROJECT 16 · EVENT COMMUNICATION / CAMPAIGN DESIGN

TTU SRC Week Celebration

A landscape campaign banner and timetable for a four-day university celebration week.

01 A split layout: emotional wordmark on the left, functional timetable on the right. The two jobs never compete.

02 The 'TTU-SRC WEEK CELEBRATION' lettering is extruded in 3D red with playful shapes, drums and leaves, and the hashtag #EKORSO gives the campaign a social identity.

#F9B40E #FEEA3D #982317 #BD882C #FEFBA4

PROJECT 14 · TOURISM ADVERTISING / CAMPAIGN DESIGN

Ghana Independence Day

A national-day greeting that doubles as destination marketing for Akosombo.

01 The greeting is set in a decorative serif using Ghana's red, gold and green, with the Black Star placed inside the word 'Independence'.

02 Twelve photographs run in an L-shaped grid along the top and right edge, framing the message like a travel journal.

#C31712 #F9D311 #086215 #151A17 #F2F2ED

PROJECT 15 · PRODUCT ADVERTISING

Ice Cream Advertising

A product advertisement where the product is the hero and the background does the selling.

01 The cool turquoise ground contrasts with the warm tones of waffle and chocolate, making the products pop.

02 A radial burst behind the cones creates energy and leads the eye to the centre of the composition.

young people trained, free of charge.

Alongside client work I run voluntary design training in my community. It is free. The aim is simple: give young people practical experience on real design tasks so they can start building skills and a portfolio of their own.

Design is hard to learn alone. Software is expensive, tutorials only go so far, and feedback is hard to find. Many of the young people I meet have good ideas but no one to show them the next step. A few hours of hands-on practice can change that.

Real tasks, not theory

Each dot is one young person trained.

WHERE THIS IS GOING

My goal is to turn these sessions into a structured, free programme that can reach 1,000 young people over the next ten years.

Five ways my work is presented differently.

My portfolio website goes further than a gallery. These five features show how I like to explain and present design work.

01 Design X-Ray

Every case study on my website has numbered notes laid over the artwork. Each note explains one decision: why this type, why this colour, why this order.

AREA: DESIGN REASONING YOU CAN SEE

02 Work in context

Each piece can be viewed flat or in a realistic setting: a framed poster on a wall, a phone feed, a product on a shelf or a two-sided business card.

AREA: MOCKUPS FOR REAL-WORLD JUDGEMENT

03 Search by colour

Visitors can pick any colour and see which of my projects use it, ranked by how close the match is.

AREA: COLOUR AS A WAY INTO THE WORK

04 Logo stress test

A logo lab shows each mark on light, dark and photo backgrounds, from 16 pixels up to signage size, in colour and in one colour.

AREA: LEGIBILITY AT EVERY SIZE

05 Presentation mode

One key turns the site into a full-screen slideshow of every project, ready for an interview or a call with a client.

AREA: PRESENTING WORK WITH CONFIDENCE

Where I want to be by 2036.

These are goals, not achievements. I wrote them down so I can be held to them.

2026

Apply to Master's programmes abroad with this profile and my portfolio.

2027 TO 2028

Complete a Master's in brand, communication or packaging design.

2029

Work in an international studio to learn how large brand systems are run.

2031

Open my own studio in Ghana, focused on identity and packaging for growing businesses.

2033

Turn my community sessions into a structured free design programme.

2036

Lead a studio known across West Africa and beyond, with 1,000 young people trained.

The next step is a Master's abroad.

My degree gave me strong practical skills, and client work has taught me a lot about real deadlines and real budgets. What I want now is the depth that is hard to get from client work alone: research, strategy, and an international view of how brands are built and how design is taught.

I want to study how brand systems hold together over time, how packaging design is changing with sustainability rules, and how design can be taught well. All three feed straight back into my studio plans and the free training I run at home.

WHAT I BRING

- 4+ years of client work across 12 brands
- 16 documented case studies
- A B.Tech and an HND in graphic design
- Teaching experience with 150+ young people

WHAT I AM LOOKING FOR

- Brand or communication design
- Packaging design and production
- Design strategy and research
- Programmes with studio and industry links

> I want to learn from the best and bring what I learn home.

Let's make it visual.

Open to brand, packaging and campaign projects, design roles and postgraduate study.
