I create meaningful visual identities and compelling design experiences that help ideas become recognizable, memorable brands.

I'm Kwabena Acheampong, a graphic designer with a foundation in advertising and packaging design.

My creative interests sit at the intersection of visual communication, brand identity and advertising. I explore how typography, colour, imagery and composition work together to communicate an idea and create a memorable impression. I combine creative exploration with purposeful communication.

> Good design should not only look beautiful. It should communicate clearly, connect with people and give ideas a recognizable visual presence.

Chris Gold Buying Agent

Brand Identity / Logo & Applications

Chris Gold Buying Agent needed a brand that signals value, trust and precision. The identity is built around a single ownable symbol: a segmented gold ring that forms the 'C' of Chris and frames a star and gold-ingot glyph. The rest of the name follows in heavy geometric capitals, and the system is shown on real touchpoints: lanyard and ID, pen, banner and apparel.

> Create a premium, trustworthy identity for a gold trading business that works on everything from a pen barrel to a roadside banner.

01 Merged the initial letter, a coin edge and a sunburst into one segmented ring so the mark is memorable and instantly connected to gold.

02 Centred a star and faceted ingots inside the ring to make the subject of the business explicit.

03 Paired heavy, geometric capitals for the name with a condensed descriptor to balance presence with clarity.

PROJECT 02 / 16 · CLIENT WORK

Clichy Gold Agent

Brand System / Advertising & Stationery

Clichy Gold Agent's brand rests on the line 'Where Precision Meets Luxury'. The advertisement translates that promise into visual evidence: a balance scale, a minted gold bar embossed with the logo and a trust badge, while four icon-led value pillars state the offer. The business card carries the same emblem into print, with a hexagon badge on the front and the logo and tagline on a textured black back.

> Communicate trust, fair pricing and accuracy for a gold buying business, consistently across digital and print.

01 Built the advertisement on symbols of precision, the scale and the embossed bar, so the claim is shown rather than stated.

02 Boxed 'Trusted & Transparent' as a seal and gave each value pillar an icon for fast reading.

03 Closed with a solid gold contact band so phone numbers and location are unmissable.

06 · CLIENT WORK · PACKAGING

Nhyira Flour

Packaging Design / Product Advertising · Nhyira Rice, Wheat & Soyabeans Flour

Nhyira produces rice, wheat and soyabean flour. The packaging gives the range a confident red-and-yellow identity: an oval Nhyira badge, a large 'FLOUR' product name and a photograph of flour and wheat, applied to both a canister and a pouch. The launch poster stages both packs in mid-air against warm yellow, framed by a red geometric pattern that gives the brand a distinctive, crafted character.

> Make a staple product stand out on the shelf and look premium, while staying clear about what is inside.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 Created a two-voice wordmark, solid capitals with a brushed script, for a brand that feels both reliable and energetic.

02 Structured the label as badge, product name and appetite image so the product reads in one glance.

03 Applied the label to two formats (canister and pouch) to prove a consistent packaging family.

04 Framed the poster with a red geometric pattern and a leaf-and-wheat emblem, finishing with a complete contact block.

06 · CLIENT WORK · PACKAGING

Fans Liquid Soap

Packaging Label / Product Advertising · Fans Liquid Soap

Fans Liquid Soap is a multi-purpose cleaner for plates, surfaces, clothes and toilets. The label design gives the bottle a playful bubbly wordmark, usage icons and contact details, and the poster places two labelled bottles against an energetic magenta foam scene. A clean white panel lists the uses, and a maroon band carries the contact line.

> Give a household product a fresh, memorable look and make its many uses immediately clear.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 Designed an outlined, rounded script wordmark that suggests bubbles and foam.

02 Used complementary contrast, cyan type on magenta, to make the name jump off the background.

03 Built a bottle label with icons that show use cases at a glance, and presented it on photoreal bottles.

04 Separated the description and contact information into calm white and maroon zones for readability.

Royal Chop Delicacies

Food Brand Campaign / Print & Social

Royal Chop Delicacies serves popular Ghanaian dishes with delivery. The menu flyer splits into a black information panel (wordmark, hook line, dishes, delivery and location) and a vivid orange panel of four plated meals. The social post shifts to a rich red with a single hero dish held out to the viewer and a clear 20%-off first-order offer, keeping the cream wordmark as the common thread.

> Drive orders by making the food look irresistible and the menu, offer and contact details effortless to find.

01 Split the flyer into an information column and an appetite column, so reading and craving happen side by side.

02 Used a conversational headline and a ticked menu list for warmth and speed.

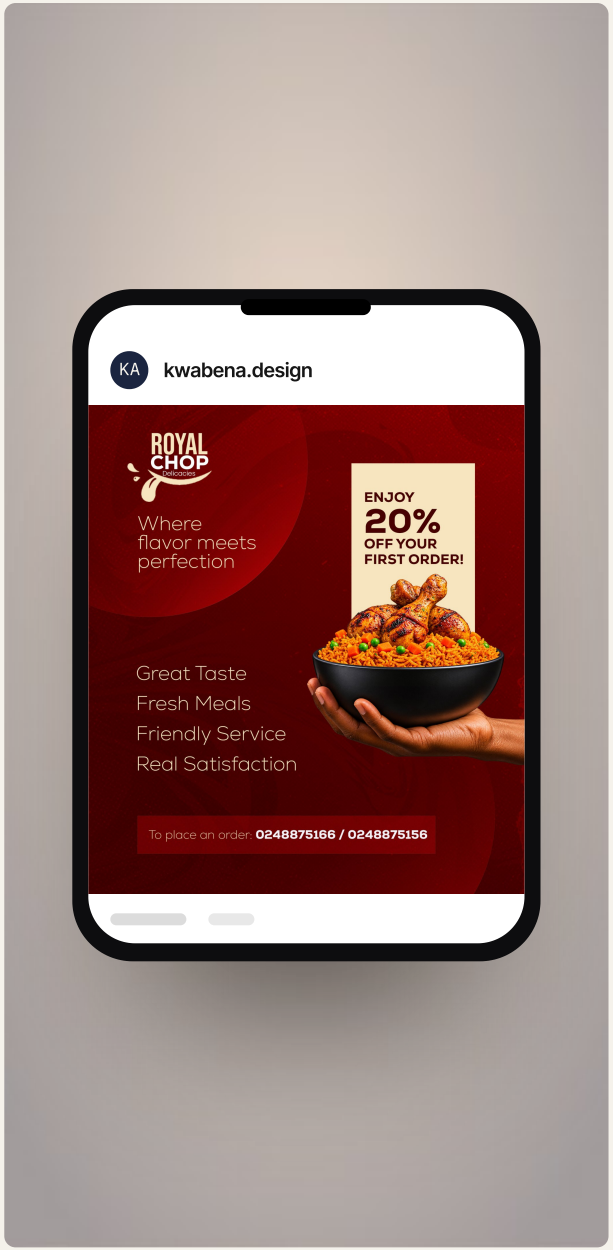

03 Turned the location into a perforated-ticket graphic and set the phone numbers large at the foot.

06 · CLIENT WORK · BEAUTY ADVERTISING

Gifty Beauty Salon

Beauty Advertising / Promotional Flyer · Gifty Beauty Salon

Gifty Beauty Salon's flyer uses a dramatic black background, soft pink accents and large portraits to make the salon feel premium. A script logo and a light serif headline, 'Styled for the Perfect Occasion', set the tone, while a framed services list and two hairstyle photographs show exactly what clients can book. A 'Book us now' button and a clean footer with location and phone close the sale.

> Position the salon as the go-to choice for special-occasion styling and make booking effortless.

DESIGN APPROACH

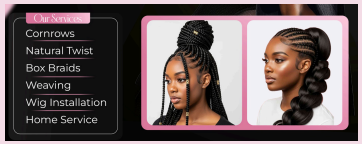

01 Paired a personal script logo with an elegant thin-serif headline for a premium, feminine voice.

02 Used black as a luxurious stage so portraits and pink accents glow.

03 Balanced aspiration (portraits) with proof (braided styles) and a clear services menu.

04 Added a pill-shaped 'Book us now' call to action and a light footer for contact details.

Highlife Brownies

Product Advertising / Social Graphic · Highlife Brownies (Highlife Dispensary)

Highlife Brownies, produced by Highlife Dispensary, needed an ad that makes its baked goods irresistible. The design floods the frame with chocolate tones: a towering cupcake, flowing chocolate and two tilted photo panels of brownies. A contrasting wordmark tops the layout, and a playful dashed arrow leads to a 'Buy Now' button, with phone, social handle and Sefwi Bekwai location along the bottom.

> Make the product look indulgent and lead viewers to place an order.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 Paired a thin serif with a chunky glossy script so the name feels premium yet fun.

02 Used monochrome chocolate tones throughout for a rich, cohesive mood.

03 Combined a hero cupcake with framed close-ups to show both drama and texture.

04 Drew a dashed arrow to the call to action to guide the eye deliberately.

● 06 · CLIENT WORK · EVENT CAMPAIGN

Kelewele Fest '26

Event Campaign / Festival Poster · The Kelewele Hub

Kelewele Fest '26 is The Kelewele Hub's celebration, marking 20 years of mastery. The poster leads with an enormous stacked wordmark on a sunburst yellow, framed by a hand-drawn brown pattern and silhouettes of huts and palm trees. Beneath it, a dark programme block lists the activities (orphanage donations, medical screening, fire safety training, a vendors' vault and entertainment) beside the dates, with a 7PM tag and the Sefwi Bekwai venue.

> Build excitement for a community food festival and communicate a varied programme at a glance.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 Made the wordmark the hero: chunky, hand-cut letters stacked on a 3D base for a celebratory, local feel.

02 Added the heritage line '20 years of mastery' to give the event meaning.

03 Organised activities into a ticked list next to a framed date for instant scanning.

04 Framed everything with a hand-drawn pattern, kelewele bowls and village silhouettes for cultural warmth.

Marriage & Naming Invitation

Event Stationery / Invitation Design · Private commission

This invitation for a combined marriage and naming ceremony uses a cream arched card within a gold floral border. A monogram crest and a high-contrast display face open the invitation, and the title pairs bold condensed letters with a tall, ultra-thin 'CEREMONY'. Script labels introduce three clear information blocks for date, time and venue. Names and RSVP details are blurred here to protect the families' privacy.

> Create a celebratory, elegant invitation that still makes every practical detail easy to find.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 Framed the card with gold roses and an arched border for warmth and formality.

02 Built the title on extreme contrast between bold condensed and ultra-thin display type.

03 Split date, time and venue into three distinct shapes with script labels.

04 Kept generous margins so the ornament never crowds the information.

Deliverables: Printed invitation · Digital invitation

Cherry's Sobolo

Packaging / Product Advertising · Cherry's Sobolo

Cherry's Sobolo presents a locally loved hibiscus drink as a fresh, natural product. The layout reads like an advertisement and a product label at the same time. A bold wordmark announces the brand, structured ingredient and instruction panels give label-level information, and layered photographs show the drink being poured and served.

> Make a traditional drink feel fresh and trustworthy: show it is natural, explain what it contains and how to keep it, and give buyers a clear route to bulk orders.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 The wordmark leads the hierarchy. A friendly script 'cherry's' sits above a heavy, outlined 'SOBOLO' set in brand red, with a cherry motif that makes the name memorable.

02 Product information is split into scannable blocks (Ingredients, Instructions) using a condensed typeface, mirroring how information is organised on packaging.

03 Trust signals ('100% natural', 'No preservatives') are given their own shapes and colour so they register at a glance.

04 A sweeping orange band divides the composition and carries the bulk-purchase call to action, closing the reading path.

AJ Lingerie & Beads

Advertising / Promotional Design · AJ Lingerie and Beads

AJ Lingerie & Beads combines a strong brand mark, a visual product catalogue and a simple 'We Deal In' list into one promotional composition. The piece needs to say what the business sells and why to choose it, quickly and warmly.

> Introduce the product range (waist beads, anklets, customised wrist beads and panties) and position the brand as offering quality at an affordable price.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 The 'AJ' monogram is set large and heavy, with a curved string of beads running from the letters. The brand's product becomes part of its identity.

02 A sequence of circular image windows works like a catalogue strip, giving each product its own frame while keeping a consistent rhythm.

03 The colour field splits from saffron into a deep chocolate brown, separating 'brand' from 'offer' and lifting the white list typography.

04 A starburst badge carries the value proposition, 'Quality & Affordable', as a classic retail cue.

Silver Package

Editorial / Advertising Design · BS Photography

Silver Package advertises a photography service tier for a studio identified by its 'BS' monogram. Instead of a busy price list, it uses an editorial approach: a gallery frame of portraits, a refined headline and a single price badge. It was created for an advertising course.

> Communicate a clear offer (7 pictures for Ghc150) while showing the quality of the photography and making the package feel premium.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 A textured off-white background and generous margins give the layout a calm, gallery-like quality.

02 The headline is set in a high-contrast serif with a metallic gradient, so the tier name 'Silver' reads visually as well as verbally.

03 Three contrasting portraits sit in one heavy black frame, creating a triptych that shows range: outdoor, studio and lifestyle.

04 The magenta price badge overlaps the frame, breaking the grid on purpose so the offer is the one loud element.

Ice Cream Advertising

Product Advertising · Jeysicles

This advertisement for Jeysicles puts the product front and centre. A fan of cones, soft-serve and sundaes rises out of a turquoise radial burst, with the brand mark at the top and the flavour range at the bottom: a simple, poster-like structure that reads instantly.

> Make the product look irresistible and communicate the flavour range with almost no copy.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 The cool turquoise ground contrasts with the warm tones of waffle and chocolate, making the products pop.

02 A radial burst behind the cones creates energy and leads the eye to the centre of the composition.

03 Products are composited into a fanned arrangement, with tallest cones at the centre, for a sense of abundance and celebration.

04 Flavours are listed in one line between chevrons: Strawberry | Vanilla | Chocolate | Banana. Short enough to read in a second.

Independence Weekend

Event Campaign / Promotional Graphics · Calenders

Independence Weekend promotes four themed nights at Calenders, a venue on Beach Road, Takoradi, timed around Ghana's Independence Day. The poster has to hold a lot of information (four events, dates, host, venue, start time and free entry) and still feel like a party.

> Build excitement for a four-day programme and make every practical detail easy to find at a glance.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 'INDEPENDENCE' is broken across two lines in tall, condensed capitals, and a yellow brush script adds 'Weekend'. Structure and celebration in one lockup.

02 The dates are pulled into a gradient pill directly under the title, so 'when' is answered immediately.

03 Each night is a row: date, arrow, event name. The repeated structure turns a dense programme into a clean list.

04 A Ghana flag drape, warm bokeh lighting and a cocktail image set the nightlife mood. The 'Free Entry' stamp gives a final push to attend.

Ghana Independence Day

Tourism Advertising / Campaign Design · Volta Hotel Akosombo × DodiWorld

This piece pairs an Independence Day greeting with tourism promotion for Akosombo, co-branded for Volta Hotel and DodiWorld. A mosaic of destination photography shows the experience, from landmarks and the lake to food, culture and leisure, while the greeting ties the campaign to the national moment.

> Use a celebratory national moment to inspire travel: show the range of experiences around Akosombo and drive bookings and enquiries.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 The greeting is set in a decorative serif using Ghana's red, gold and green, with the Black Star placed inside the word 'Independence'.

02 Twelve photographs run in an L-shaped grid along the top and right edge, framing the message like a travel journal.

03 Image selection works as a story: landmarks (Adomi Bridge, Akosombo Dam), lake cruise, accommodation, culture, cuisine, adventure and wildlife.

04 'Dream | Explore | Discover Ghana' and #VisitAkosombo give the campaign a repeatable line and a social hook. A black footer bar holds booking details.

TTU SRC Week Celebration

Event Communication / Campaign Design · Takoradi Technical University SRC

Created for the Takoradi Technical University Students' Representative Council's 2021 SRC Week, this banner combines a festive event identity with a full programme of activities. The theme is 'Understanding the times and seasons through entertainment.' The landscape format lets the left half sell the mood and the right half inform.

> Create an energetic identity for the week that students would share, and give them one place to find every activity, venue and time.

DESIGN APPROACH

01 A split layout: emotional wordmark on the left, functional timetable on the right. The two jobs never compete.

02 The 'TTU-SRC WEEK CELEBRATION' lettering is extruded in 3D red with playful shapes, drums and leaves, and the hashtag #EKORSO gives the campaign a social identity.

03 The timetable uses numbered day blocks (01–04), consistent columns (Activity, Venue, Time) and alternating chevrons, so a dense schedule is easy to scan.

04 A bright yellow field with tropical foliage keeps the whole banner warm and celebratory.

Deliverables: Event campaign banner · Programme / timetable design · Campaign hashtag identity young people trained, free of charge.

Alongside client work I run voluntary design training in my community. It is free. The aim is simple: give young people practical experience on real design tasks so they can start building skills and a portfolio of their own.

Design is hard to learn alone. Software is expensive, tutorials only go so far, and feedback is hard to find. A few hours of hands-on practice with someone who has done the work can change that.

Each dot is one young person trained.

WHERE THIS IS GOING

My goal is to turn these sessions into a structured, free programme that can reach 1,000 young people over the next ten years.

Designing what's next.

Grounded in advertising and packaging, my practice is moving toward design that is systematic, participatory and rooted in culture. These are the directions I am developing:

01

Living identity systems

Identities designed as flexible systems: marks, colour and type that move across print, packaging, social and motion while staying recognizable at every size.

02

Purposeful, connected packaging

Packaging that informs as well as sells: clearer label hierarchy, material-conscious choices and connected labels (QR) that link a product to its story.

03

Interactive, playful campaigns

Turning audiences into participants. This portfolio's companion website is a working example, with Design X-Ray annotations, in-context mockups, colour search, a Logo Lab and a gamified Studio Archive.

04

Culture-rooted, globally legible

Bringing Ghanaian colour, celebration and visual culture into contemporary design that reads clearly to international audiences.

NEXT STEP

A Master's degree abroad.

I want the depth that is hard to get from client work alone: research, strategy and an international view of how brands are built. It all feeds back into my practice and the free training I run at home.

> "Good design should communicate clearly, connect with people and give ideas a recognizable visual presence."
